BLACKFOOT M.D. ASK GOVT. TO CONTINUE WHEAT BOARD

A regular meeting of the council of the Blackfoot municipality was held recently with Reeve Thorsen, Deputy Reeve Umbricht, and Councillors Bolinger, Nelson and Rasmussen present.

Mr. Rasmussen reported that he had met Mr. Griffin of the C.P.R. Stratmore, and an inspection was made of the irrigation ditch on the road allowance south of section 17-22. Mr. Griffin was willing that the earth be taken up to the ditch which would allow the water to flow in the road ditch and would be part of the old water channel. Mr. Griffin also promised to have the irrigation cut vert repaired.

Mr. W. W. Wanner was present and asked that a survey be held between section 16 and 15 in 22-22. The structure required was four feet high and ten feet wide. Mr. Belinga advised that a run off emptied into this flume and in addition to this there was a spill-way channel where water was spilled during the summer season. The secretary was instructed to write to the C.P.R. asking that their engineer view the ground and advise, what they would be prepared to do to satisfy Mr. Wanner.

A $250 additional allocation was voted to Division No. 4, market road. This will be expended in making a dump wagon fill. Mr. C. P. R. at Stratmore was telephoned if their dump wagons were available for hire. Mr. Whiteside advised that Mr. Griffin was in Calgary and he would advise next day; he however, expected that their wagons would be available for hire at 50 cents per working day.

Councillor Bolinger moved and carried the following resolution. That the secretary of this municipality advise to the mayor authorized and directed to levy and collect a rate of 3 mills on the dollar on the assessed value of all assessable lands for social services in the municipality for social services.

Councillor Nelson: Be it resolved that the handling of wheat be under government control in some form in all exporting and importing countries at present, the Canadian Government should continue the Wheat Board Act during the 1936-37 crop year, so as to maintain a living price and not return to the open futures system, as we believe this will lead to the financial ruin of western farmers. And that a copy of this resolution be forwarded to the Hon. W. D. Eeler, Minister of Trade and Commerce, Ottawa.—Carried.

DRAW PROGRAM BOW VALLEY FIELD AND TRACK ASSOC.

The second meeting of the Bow Valley Intercollegiate Track and Field Association was held in the hotel at Gleichen. Those present were Mr. Crowther representing Stratmore; Mr. Evers of Stratmore; Mr. Hoover of Carseland; Mr. Allergot of Milot; Miss E. C. C. and Miss Morrison, Mr. Van Tigen, Mr. McLeans and Mr. Whitehorn of Bassano. A letter was on hand from Mr. Gorrell stating that he and Mr. Myers would be unable to attend at 3 o'clock because of a previous engagement, but would be free at a later hour.

The question of a name for the association was discussed and upon motion of Messrs. Hoover and Evers the name Bow Valley Intercollegiate Track and Field Association was adopted.

The classification and list of events was then discussed in detail and the following program prepared:

The age shall be taken as at August 1st after the conclusion of the spring term.

The question of membership in the Alberta branch, Amateur Union of Canada was discussed, and in view of possible difficulties in financing it was decided on a motion of Messrs. McLeans and Hoover not to join the Union for this year.

The question of making application to the Provincial Intercollegiate track and field championships was discussed. It was the opinion of those present that in view of the cost of holding this meet and the fact that the organization was just getting underway, that no application should be made this year.

The question of awards and trophies was then discussed, and the following motion was introduced by Messrs. McLeans and Hoover: That ribbons be given for firsts, seconds and thirds in each event, and that trophies be given for the individual winning the most points in each class as finances permit. Carried. It was decided to allow the following points for winners: first—3 points; second—2 points; third—1 point.

It was decided that there should be no calculation of the points won by each school for the purpose of allotting a gold star shield.

It was felt that this method should be for the purpose of individual competition.

The financing of the organization was then discussed. The following motion was finally introduced by Mr. Evers: That the two local track organizations collect $1 per room from all schools entering each local track meet and hand this amount to the secretary of the Association, and that should further local organizations be formed with their winners entering the central meet, the same rule apply to them; Carried.

The place for holding the first meet was then discussed, and it was decided upon motion to hold the first meet in Bassano. The time that the meet was to be held was left to a meet of executive. A motion was introduced and passed that the amateur rules as laid down in the rule book be adopted. The secretary was then asked to sign the cheques.

The third meeting of the Association will be held after the conclusion of the fall meets, on October 25th, as the meets should be finished by that date.

The lists of winners of the local meets and a record of times and distances obtained should be handed to the secretary of the Association at that time.

PYE-HALLER

A pretty wedding was solemnized at Eventide Home on Wednesday, July 1st, at 3 p.m. Mr. and Mrs. J. Haller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Haller of Winnipeg, became the bride of Mr. John Pye. Adj. J. J. Sutherland officiating. The bridegroom was Miss Edith Cadman of Blackfalds, while Miss Grace Sutherland acted as flower girl. The groom was supported by Mr. Nathan Gregory.

Mrs. W. Smith played the wedding march as the bride and groom entered.

LOCAL GIRL GUIDES VISIT SISTERS AT BROOKS

(Communicated)

Following an invitation from the First Brooks Company Canadian Girl Guides, the Gleichen Company of Guides, the Gleichen Company of Guides travelled to Brooks and spent a very enjoyable and profitable day.

The girls left early in the morning with their captain, Mrs. Don Swan in charge, assisted by Brownie Leader, Mrs. Deshayes, acting as Lieutenant in the absence of Miss Irene Phillips who was unable to make the trip.

Their first thrill was the sight of Guides in uniform meeting them on the highway just outside of Brooks. These girls guided the visitors to Canadian Legion headquarters, the Legion girls kindly putting this building at their disposal for the day.

After a swim and a fine luncheon which was put on by the Brooks Girl Guides, the girls were taken out in seven private cars and visited the Eastern Irrigation Co. m. p. n. y. grounds where they were entertained by Mr. Frang and Mrs. Owins of the E.I.C. these gentlemen showing the girls through the grounds where they saw the fruit and flowers growing over before. Several of the girls thought the flowers were lovely flowers. Next the guides were taken out to see the big aqueduct, where they saw 600 cubic feet of water passing through the huge tunnel. From there they were taken through the beautiful grounds of the Duke of Sutherland.

Then came more swimming and a good supper served in the Oddfellows Hall by the Brooks Company. An hour of free time to visit with their newly made Guide friends, and then the start for home.

Mrs. Sunbeam, captain of the Brooks Girl Guides, and Rev. Father Rutherford of Brooks, are both to be congratulated on the smooth and efficient and very enjoyable way this large crowd of young visitors were handled.

The girls arrived home tired but happy, the day being only slightly marred by trouble on the way home which delayed their arrival by a couple of hours.

The local Girl Guides wish to take this opportunity of extending their hearty thanks to Mr. Charles Lanson, it being through Mr. Lanson's kindness in driving them to Brooks that they were able to make this trip.

The Army band which was present also played selections and Miss S. Conroy sang a solo in the room where the wedding took place. The bride was elegantly located with an arch of white and wedding bells. Present at the wedding were the bride's parents, who came from Winnipeg; Mrs. Cadman and daughter of Blackfalds; a number of townspersons and all of the staff and inmates of the Home. After signing the register the bride and groom visited three different sections of the institution; the main dining room; the two hospital wards, where the bride cut the wedding cake and receives the good wishes of all. After which some 35 of the guests and members of the staff sat down to the wedding breakfast. The happy couple left on the evening train for Sylvan Lake where they will spend some time, after which they will take up duties at the Eventide Home.

The bride and groom, both of whom are soldiers of the Salvation Army were married at the Salvation Army colors.

PORCH CLIMBERS

It is by the appropriate term of "porch climbers" that a paper describes the sales agents that afflict the general public, particularly at this season of the year. The time is approaching when every householder is afraid to go to his own front door, for fear he will be confronted with an instant, persistent individual with something to sell.

This type of infestation is basically wrong with the whole type of the sales agent. The reason is that it makes a place of business of the home, and the home according to all standards, should be a refuge from business.

In fact it is the home of these porch climbers, that they do not have offices, they do not have stores, and they do not sell through stores. In other words they make a store of your home, giving you no choice of business hours and no choice of goods. They do not

GOOD MINIMUM PRICE NEEDED

The setting of a fair minimum price for wheat by the Wheat Board is a matter of primary importance to Alberta and Western Canada. The Alberta Wheat Pool invites the cooperation of all organized bodies who are interested in seeing this desired and brought about. It is also important that the Federal Government be impressed with the need for the continuation of the Wheat Board.

The experience of the 1935-36 crop year shows that the setting of a reasonable minimum price provides a measure of protection to the wheat farmers that could have been obtained in no other way. The Alberta Wheat Pool contends that the losses if any, entailed are trivial as compared with the advantages gained by providing purchasing power for the farmers of the west. A drive to bring about lower wheat prices was frustrated by Wheat Pools co-operating with the Federal Government last year. While the situation has changed somewhat and prospects appear brighter for improved prices this year, it is suggested that the welfare of agriculture needs the steady influence of a substantial minimum price in order to offset movements which may develop later on.

From your doorstep, they seem it, imposing on the reluctance of their victim to make a scene by throwing them out.

This particular racket is obviously unfair to all legitimate business. Great companies flourish, and make millions because they need not carry the expense of offices and rentals, so long as they can use a million private homes to do business in.

These agents as everyone knows are trained men and invulnerable to ordinary discouragements. They have studied your habits, know your name and peculiarities. They have built up arguments to defeat your standard objections. And strangest of all, they can count on your reluctance to strew man's blood upon your doorstep, and with invaluable brass, they play out their whole game within your boundaries.

A porch climber preys primarily on the woman. He calls her by her name when she comes to the door, he assumes he may be her husband's cousin. A moment later when she finds her mistake, she cannot instantly change her voice and call him a viper. And he seized upon that moment of indecision to bore in—of course people can refuse to open the front door at all. The ring might mean a telegram or a friend. No, you will continue to answer the knock. And each time you will fight the whole duel of wits again, with the man outside steadily making headway.

To almost an equal extent the business men of the town suffer from the same infestation. Here are agents sent out from firms in the east, with no offices, no rentals, no taxes in the town. They prowl through the territory selling goods which should be handled in local business places possibly taking business from local dealers. They live in other people's offices contributing nothing to any community. They do not pay payroll taxes, taxes. They use some rooms of office as sample rooms, saving hotel bills and store rent. And why all citizens do not unite to repel these organized attacks is difficult to understand.

We wish to thank our readers who have been co-operating with us by sending in local items. We are able to secure much personal news which it is our desire to publish and will greatly appreciate the continued assistance of all our readers who have friends and relatives visiting them or who have been out of town. Send in your items and we will be pleased to publish them. Sign your name, which will not be published.

A married couple had engaged a cook. She was very pretty, but her cooking was terrible, and one morning the husband came home with a crimp on his whole forehead. "Dear," said the wife to her husband, "I'm afraid the cook has burned the bacon. You'll have to be satisfied with a kiss for breakfast this morning." "All right," responded the husband. "Call her in."

TOWN OFFICIALS VISIT GOVERNMENT AUTHORITIES

Major J. E. Ostrander and Counsellor Wm. McConnell recently paid a visit to Edmonton and saw the government officials regarding affairs of Gleichen. They were most courteously received and given a splendid hearing. Since their return it has been found that the trip to Edmonton was well worth while. The town has received a letter on the subject which will shortly be settled to the entire satisfaction of the local town fathers.

The president, Miss L. Bell occupied the chair. After roll call the minutes of the last meeting were read and adopted. Current Events were then read and a letter from the Emergency Relief Welfare Board thanking the Group for the donation of a box of clothing.

Business of the meeting and future activities of the Group was then proceeded with, after which the meeting was adjourned.

A very delicious tea with plenty of ice cream was served by the hostess and her assistants.

Songs by Ralph McArthur, Peggy Jean and Eileen McArthur and Connie Towers, was greatly enjoyed. Mrs. Hill presiding at the piano.

It was announced that Mrs. Clarence Nelson had requested that the next meeting be held at her home and this meeting will be held on July 9th at 3 p.m.

A negro employed in one of the movie studios was drafted by a director to do a novel comedy scene with a lion. "You get into this bed, and we'll bring the lion in and put him in bed with you. It will be a scream," ordered the director. "Put a lion in bed with me! No, sah! Not a-tall. I quite right here now," yelled the negro. "But," protested the director, "this lion won't hurt you. This lion was brought up on milk." "So was I," quipped the negro. "But I eat meat now."

MINIMUM WHEAT PRICE

The Alberta Wheat Pool invites the co-operation of all organized bodies and all interested individuals in impressing upon the Federal Government and the people of all Canada the importance of fixing a minimum price for wheat above the average cost of production.

This can best be done by resolutions passed by boards of trade, municipal councils and other similar organizations, or letters to members of parliament.

Drive Them Off The Highways

Some time ago it was predicted that with the advent of the warm summer weather which tempts people to enjoy outdoor life as much as possible the newspapers would carry stories of automobile accidents, recording the deaths of some and injury of a great many more.

The prediction is a safe one and is already being amply fulfilled. Even before the hottest summer months had arrived a number of smashups with their accompanying fatalities and injuries were reported in screaming headlines in the daily press.

Eye witnesses of one accident in one of the prairie provinces report that a couple of men were driving a brand new car along a crowded highway towards one of the cities on a Sunday evening. With the speedometer recording 75 and 80 miles an hour they flashed past scores of cars laden with men, women, children returning from a day at the summer resorts.

As the speeding car tore past other automobiles, some of them travelling at almost equally unreasonable speeds under such traffic conditions, the occupants turned round and waved a derisive "ha, ha", gloating in their ability to "beat the other fellow". The inevitable happened. The driver lost control, or there was a blow out and the two occupants completed their journey to the city in an ambulance, broken limbs and pain-twisted features bearing mute testimony to their agonies. The erstwhile handsome car lay partly on the highway and partly in the ditch wrecked beyond the semblance of a vehicle.

Fortunately in this particular instance the two occupants of the car were the only persons to suffer as a result of their recklessness, but for an hour or more they had jeopardized the lives and limbs of scores of perhaps hundreds of people using the highways in a legitimate and sane manner, including many women and children.

Such recklessness on the highway is nothing less than criminal and those who come to grief as a result of such misuse of the roads and motor vehicles have only themselves to blame. A worse feature, however, is the menace of such wild driving to other people. Even at moderate speeds of 35 and 40 miles an hour the highways are none too safe, but with speed-crazed individuals at the wheel the roads become potential and sometimes actual shambles.

While the police are on the watch for reckless fools and do all they can to protect legitimate users of the highways there are not enough of them on the job to ensure complete protection and it is doubtful if the provinces can afford to employ sufficient patrolmen to furnish immunity from all dangerous pests.

Under such circumstances the only safeguard for reasonable people is to arouse public opinion against criminals of this type to the extent that sane drivers will be willing to report them to the police and appear in court to testify against them. Such complaints, supported by adequate testimony, should inevitably result in cancellations of drivers' licenses, or at least suspension for a considerable period of time.

After all, the sensible drivers who report the action of crazy drivers who endanger lives of others are only carrying out the law of self-preservation and do a public service in the interests of his fellow men and women. No one would hesitate to report a wild man running amuck with a knife or an ax, yet a wild man at the wheel of a powerful automobile is a much greater potential danger to the public.

No person should feel a bit squeamish about reporting dangerous violations of the laws of safety or harbor the notion that because he and his family have been safely passed it is none of his business. If two or three drivers report the recklessness of another their testimony should be ample to ensure conviction. If half a dozen or more report a case, the evidence would undoubtedly be regarded as overwhelming.

Not very long ago newspapers reported the organization of a new safety body, the Dominion Automobile Safety Council Inc., with headquarters at Montreal, coupled with the announcement that its chief function is to promote safety measures by educational means designed to cut down the motor car accident toll throughout Canada.

Such an organization can perform a very useful function to society in arousing public opinion and assist in dispelling the comparative apathy with which the general public appear to regard a very important question. The proposal that the co-operation of the driving public to report all cases of wild driving on the highways be sought, might well be recommended.

Such drivers should be driven off the highways.

Not An Ordinary Search

Two Victoria horticulturists have set out on a 3,000-mile trek to look for wild flowers. But it is not an ordinary wildflower that attracts Edmund H. and Joseph A. Lohbrunner to the Arctic and sub-Arctic part of the Yukon and Alaska. Rare anemone, polemonium and dwarf willows an inch in height will be sought during the summer adventure.

The discovery of the earliest known written psalm was recently announced. A cuneiform inscription of about 15 B.C. which has puzzled Syria was in reality the earliest known written psalm.

Long Service Ended

With approximately 140,000 miles behind him, travelled behind a slowly plodding horse, Henry Ginderich of Baden, Ont., has made his last trip as rural mail carrier after 16 years continuous service over a daily 28-mile route. Only twice in that time did he fail to make his round and storms were responsible both times.

Motor Roads In Britain

Increase In Traffic Is Causing Worry To Authorities

It is said that the British Isles have never been known better than they are today by more of those who inhabit them; and small wonder in view of the means of locomotion available, observes the London correspondent of the New York Sun.

Road traffic has more than doubled in five years. In Great Britain there are 178,000 miles of public highways, of which 43,000 are classified roads. The total number of vehicles using them last year was 2,581,000, as compared with only 873,700 in 1921. One person in every 10 now possesses an automobile. But there are 10,000,000 or more cyclists also using the roads.

According to Hore-Belisha, minister of transport, Britain, in the 20th century, has become the "most densely veiled" country in the world, having 23 registered motor vehicles to the square mile as compared with seven in the United States. The increase has been so rapid, he contends, that "engineers and surveyors have not been able to evolve the means of assuring the free flow of traffic in conditions of method and safety."

In the next five years $450,000,000 is to be expended on roads, and in that period it is also planned to construct 230 miles of cycle tracks and 750 miles of dual carriageways. Although increased safety for the cyclist will be assured by construction of cycle tracks such as are already widely in use on the continent, many of the cyclists resent the efforts to circumscribe their use of ordinary traffic arteries.

Japanese Zeppelin Service

Japan May Purchase Two Or More German Dirigibles

Japanese sponsors of ambitious plans for a trans-Pacific Zeppelin service found themselves faced with severe obstacles.

It was learned authoritatively, however, that the plans had not been abandoned.

High aviation sources said one group proposes three routes:

1. An airship service between Tokyo and Hsingking, capital of Manchukuo.

2. An airship line connecting Tokyo with Singapore or Batavia, via Shanghai and Hong Kong.

3. An aerial route from Tokyo to San Francisco or Los Angeles via Honolulu.

All three schemes call for purchase of two or more German Zeppelins. A German dirigible expert and air pilot called in for advice returned to Germany without, so far as could be learned, reaching any agreement with the Japanese interests. The sponsors were informed Germany could not lend Japan any of her zeppelin experts and pilots except for a very limited time.

Skemea River Floods

Church Is Wrecked But Bible Left On Table Is Undamaged

The flood waters of the Skemea river wrecked the interior of the March Memorial church at Ust, situated on the river bank, but left the Bible undamaged on a small table, it was revealed in stories brought out from the recently flooded area.

The church organ was overturned, chairs were scattered about the building and the linen cover over the table on which the Bible stood was mud.

Another story from Ust concerns three hens that perched in high branches of a tree.

After the water dropped the hens were found under the trees where they had established a community nest in which were found four new-laid eggs.

Oriental Figure Of Speech

Story Of Jonah Is Mistaken Translation Claims Language Expert

The story of Jonah's three-day stay inside a whale arose from a mistaken translation centuries ago, according to a date submitted by George M. Lams of Washington.

Writing in "Gospel Light," Lams, an expert in the Aramaic language of Bible times, said:

"According to the interpretation of dreams in the East, fish or whale means trouble, disturbance and indecision. Jonah in the whale is an Oriental hyperbole, and means Jonah is in trouble, just as an American would say, 'he is in a hole,' or 'he is out of a hole.'

"This American slang would be confusing to an Easterner, just as the term 'Jonah in the Whale' would be to a Westerner, unfamiliar with Oriental speech."

Should Be Other Ways

But Increased Taxation Appears Only Remedy For Expenditures

For the current fiscal year, the Finance Minister expects a deficit of "slightly less than $100,000,000."

These are astronomical figures!

Why in 1896—only 40 years ago—the total expenditures of the Dominion Government, chargeable to consolidated fund, amounted to "merely" $36,000,000. At the turn of the century in 1901 the figure was $46,000,000. And on the eve of the Great War, in 1913, total expenditures amounted to $112,000,000—or just an even fifty million less than last year's deficit!

Is increased taxation the only remedy?

Is there no room for greater economies in these times when every private business—every citizen—must economize?

Millions Of Words Used During Session Of Parliament

During the recent session of parliament, lasting less than five months, members of the House of Commons uttered approximately 3,240,000 words while senators were comparatively reticent with little more than 500,000 words recorded by Hansard.

Special committees of the house whose proceedings were recorded used more than 3,000 pages of Hansard with something like 2,230,000 words of evidence and argument, that which investigated radio having the largest volume—about 500,000 words.

Reporting these proceedings and the general activities of the government and the members of parliament, the Canadian Press sent over its automatic printers to its members throughout the Dominion well over 600,000 words.

Probably well over 1,000,000 additional words were sent over the telegraphic wires by the score of special correspondents who are representing individual newspapers in the press gallery. The house of commons was in session 90 days.

Lady Tweedsmuir Has Been Appointed To Order Of St. John Of Jerusalem

Lady Tweedsmuir has been appointed a dame of grace of the Order of St. John of Jerusalem, the Westminster Gazette announced.

Persons admitted to this order "are such persons, being subjects of the British crown, and professing the Christian faith, as have performed or are prepared to perform good services for the order and its objects." The objects of the order are the encouragement and promotion of ambulances, hospital and other charitable work.

Speakers Held To Time

Convention Of Health Authorities

Ran By Light Signals

A system of automatic lights similar to ordinary street traffic signals was used to keep speakers in order at the convention of the state and provincial health authorities of North America held recently in Vancouver.

Five minutes before the scheduled time limit of each speaker a green light flashed from the box-light apparatus set on his table. With one minute to go a yellow light appeared. When a red light came on time was up and whether or not he was finished the speaker had to sit down.

As a result of their signal system, the convention authorities were able to run their program on schedule.

Air Commodore Herbert Hollick-Kenyon, Antarctic flyer, isn't quitting flying for farming.

Star Explosion

Light Reaches Mother Earth After Journey Of 2,000 Years

Old Mother Earth watched from a big seat one of the rarest shows since the universe began—a star explosion that happened long before shepherds saw the star of Bethlehem.

Far off in an outer rim of space—so far that the earth and the sun are next door neighbors by comparison—the star "blew up" some 2,000 or 3,000 years ago.

Civilizations rose and fell, but even light—travelling at 186,300 miles a second—could not give the earth the news of the blast until recently.

Man had suspected for a month that something had happened out there in the Milky Way, for a scientist in Holland had reported that cosmic rays—children of disintegrating matter—had been traveling to earth in greater and greater numbers from that direction.

On the night of June 28th, an amateur astronomer at Delphos, Ohio, L. C. Peltier, peered through his telescope and saw a bright star that wasn't there the night before.

It was so bright he could see it through the telescope. It lay on the boundary line between two constellations, Cepheus and La Corte, which in the northwestern sky at sunset and directly overhead in the evening.

At a series of observatories of the University of Chicago, Dr. Otto Struve announced the star had been on astronomers' maps since 1893, and had not gotten any brighter by 1920, when its picture was last snapped.

The famous royal racing cutter Britannia will be scuttled the indignity of the shipbreaker's yard and will be scuttled in the English channel.

Official orders for the sinking of the yacht, so closely identified with the late King George, were issued recently. A month ago it was announced the sails and rigging would be sold.

Legend Came True

Water Filled Pool In Devonshire When King George Died

The age old legend, "And when the pool fills with water . . ." came true at North Town, Devonshire, when King George V. died. The legend says that when the spring-fed bath pool there fills with water, the members of the royal family will die. The spring is said to be the source of the Prince Consort, Albert, husband of Queen Victoria, and of Queen Victoria herself and the Duke of Clarence, first son of King Edward VII. Three days after King George V. lay dead, the water vanished and cattle are grazing there once more.

Bird Foretells Rain

Rafael Ruesga, Mexican consul at Tampa, Florida, has a bird that tells him when it's going to rain, but he wants to get rid of it. The bird is a Mexican road-runner. Its bones ache in damp weather, Ruesga says, causing it to utter sharp cries before and during rain storms. But the bird disturbs his sleep, he said.

CHAPTER XIX.

If the crowd had been in turmoil before, it was bedlam aroused now. Buzz grunted, his jaw slack. Roper gulped hard, strove to think of something, but, like a small boy caught rifling the jam closet, was nonplussed.

Not so the plucky girl. She spun around and her hand flashed to the man nearest her. A man gritted, its black barrel reaching the sun's rays as she thrust its muzzle hard against Kilgo's stomach.

"You held up Link!" she cried accusingly. "Don't move or I'll kill you!"

The crowd froze. By some quick of mob psychology it was as if she held a gun pointed at the stomach of every individual present. All eyes held on Buzz Hamilton's sister as with her glossy chestnut hair heaved, her face white, her chest rising and falling with excitement and the exercise of the curse of her forefinger over the trigger of the gun.

"That's Link Fleming's wallet! Why, it has his name right on it. Isn't that yours?"

She did not snare her eyes from Kilgo as she spoke. "Marked you out Link free. Quietly! Seth Holland is here in this plot to lynch an innocent man. Can't you believe now that someone held Link up?"

"It was Gyp Vaille—grab him!"

At the Star Loop owner's command Vaille whirled and started to run.

Seconds ticked past without a move made to harm him. Then, uttering a guttural curse, Gus, the pink-faced bartender from the Half Moon, whipped out a gun from under his soiled apron. It cracked once and a spurt of dust rose close behind the fleeing man. Again it roared.

Vaille's arms flung up. His helmet of pain carried back to the stunned throng before the jail as he spun on one heel—and fell.

As if by magic the crowd began slowly to melt away. Uncertainty and puzzlement were on every face.

"Yuh man Vaille stuck Link up, took his steer money, then gave it to Kilgo? What was Gyp doin' in the bank?"

"Chased there, maybe. I—uh—believe me, gentlemen," Otto Peyster spoke up, looking them trembly.

"I had no knowledge of that—it's miserac's presence! But it seems Link and his men were searching the town. So Waco Byrne just informed me."

Link, free at last, looked up.

Some instinct caused him to turn his head. Helen's hands flew to her throat in a gesture of fear. A path widened through the crowd as if by magic. And ten paces away, standing at ease but with his weight evenly distributed on both feet, waiting was . . . Jackpot Mell.

His eyes were brilliant and gleaming as the jealous eyes of a wolf. He twined a hand dangling at his side with ominous significance.

"Link," he rasped in harsh, hateful tones, "I'm waitin'!"

Fleming scarcely heard the words. He was unconscious of the ripple of gasps over the crowd, melting away.

A weight made itself known, and looking down he saw in dulled surprise that someone had slipped a forty-five into his holster. Waco Byrne.

He swallowed to ease his throat, suddenly gone parched and dry.

He again dashed his fingers to the mouth he had had there last few days, that never before had he faced an opponent so quick as Jackpot Mell.

Seven men had gone to their death at the roar of his flaming gun. Would he be number eight?

Strangely, he felt no fear, but a great calmness. And overpowering curiosity as to what was going to happen. Cool, his eyes fixed unwaveringly on Mell's whole six-foot gaunt figure until they became hot, and he blinked. The wait seemed to lengthen into years. In reality it could not have been more than ten seconds.

Jackpot's right hand moved. With the speed of a streak of light the Star Loop owner plunged for his gun.

As he fired he knew with certainty that Mell had drawn first, the margin of a clipped second. He felt a hot, jabbing sensation in his left shoulder, heard his squirrel roar his second time as Jackpot fired again and again. Then staggering from the collision of slug and flesh, Link whirled and fell.

But he was not out. He tightened his hard fingers around the Colt and jerked onto his left elbow. His pain-filled eyes sought desperately to focus on his enemy.

Mell was a mere heap of clothing in the dust.

There was a split-second's pause as all eyes fixed on the burly rancher hurriedly stuffing the packet of bills in a brown pigskin wallet back into his torn shirt.

Helen uttered a gasp. "Wh—why, it's money!" She shot a swift look at Link.

There was a split-second's pause as all eyes fixed on the burly rancher hurriedly stuffing the packet of bills in a brown pigskin wallet back into his torn shirt.

"That's our cattle money!" Fleming roared.

"Link! Link!" Helen started toward him but suddenly halted as her face was new fear sprayed across her face.

For Roper Kilgo, his florid countenance crimson than ever before, had had the first man to the side of Jackpot. Now he straightened, and a bull-like roar burst from his fat lips. His hand jabbed for his gun. Whipping it out, Wham! The first shot sped dust into Fleming's face and eyes. All but blinded, he was gripped by red rage at the cowardly tactics.

With a great effort he climbed dazedly erect and retreated. Sightingly hurriedly, he sent a bullet timed at the nth degree with Kilgo's second shot.

An Interesting Document

Show Generosity Of Indian Chiefs To British Major

After 156 years a document by 11 Indian Chiefs giving 5,000 acres upon which part of the city of Detroit, Michigan, now stands to Major Arent Schuyler De Peyster, British commandant to Detroit in 1780, for nothing, has been returned there.

Two Detroiters, who wish to remain anonymous, presented the document from Maggie Bieso, London dealers in rare books and manuscripts, and brought it back home.

Detroit citizens felt that the bargain white men made when they got the Island of Manhattan from the Indians for $24 was bettered here with the deed to 5,000 acres free.

The Indian Chiefs who made the land over to Major De Peyster, each drew a picture to represent his name or tribal sign, the pictures representing birds, deer, arrows, wigwams. One of them looks much like a present insect, if that term can be applied to a bug helplessly waving its legs in the air.

The transfer took place before Detroit became American territory and in the mid of the revolutionary war. Whoever made out the conveyance, however, must have been skilled in the parlance of law, for he apparently gave poor Indians no loopholes to which they might take back their gift.

One line of the contract mentioned about all the lands rights in existence, and the Indians said that might crop up in the future.

Major Arent Schuyler De Peyster was an American Tory from New York City with an admixture of French blood. He is described by George Catlin in "The Story of Detroit" as "an accomplished man and social favorite," his American and French origins, however, prejudiced him in the eyes of Britain, and he lost the Detroit post.

Going to Dumfries, Scotland, he drilled soldiers for the Napoleonic wars. One of his recruits was Robert Burns, to whom he showed unusual kindness during the poet's last illness. It is said Burns' last poem was addressed to De Peyster as a result.

Not Opposed To Television

American Publishers Do Not Think Broadcast Will Take The Place Of Newspapers

Elmer Hanley, general counsel for the American Newspaper Publishers' Association, told the commission at Washington he did not believe that at present television or facsimile (still photograph) broadcasting would take the place of newspapers.

The 400 newspapers which he represents, he said, are not opposed to facsimile or television because either or both might compete with newspapers."

Appearing before the commission which is conducting a fact-finding investigation into the future of radio, A. H. Kirchoffer, managing editor of the Buffalo Evening News and vice-president of a radio station owned by the newspaper, said television "could not hurt newspapers" but would be "supplement" to newspaper service."

R. D. Lemert, vice-president of the De Forest Telephone Corporation of Hollywood, Calif., told the commission he and Dr. De Forest had been actively experimenting with television for several years and asserted they now could transmit "from 240 square inches and flow up to 600 square inches per minute at a normal speed on a facsimile picture."

Under questioning, he said this would equal 12,500 words a minute.

Lead Poisoning Dangerous

All Painted Articles Should Be Kept From Children

Confirming the report of Dr. J. R. Rose, of the Hospital for Sick Children, Dr. Allan Dafoe, director of the Canadian Chemical convention, Niagara Falls, that several Toronto babies have died recently from lead poisoning after biting painted articles, Dr. Alan Brown, chief physician at the Hospital for Sick Children, expressed the belief that there were many more cases than are recognized.

"We usually have half a dozen or more cases a year," Dr. Brown explained. His warning was that people with babies in the home should keep them away from painted articles, even the woodwork, and should pay attention to the paint on cribs.

Lead poisoning from paint causes lead encephalitis, or inflammation of the brain tissue. "The lead gets into the blood stream, then into the brain, and even into the bones," said Dr. Brown. "You can detect it in the bones by the X-ray, and it stays there for years."

Home-painted articles are particularly dangerous for young children, Dr. Brown emphasized.

"Quite often 60 per cent of the paint used around houses is made up of lead. It is often on cribs and and carriages, and the baby bites it and sucks the rungs, especially during teething periods. They eat the paint from the sides of their beds, even the window sills and the paint off their toys. Only baked-enamel articles are safe."

The main symptoms of lead encephalitis are convulsions, Dr. Brown explained. "Whenever we have a case of encephalitis now we examine them for lead poisoning in the brain."

Seeks Fame And Fortune

Chinese Boy Earning Way To Hollywood In Original Manner

Consider the case of Eng Wing Koon, hanger-by-the-pigtails extraordinary, who seeks to make fame and fortune in Hollywood.

Koon is crossing the continent by swiving from his pigtail, dangling in chosen spots, that is, to gather money and pay his way to choice hanging scenes further west.

He learned the art in New York, he told state police at Bloomingdale, N.J., who were so naive as to question his travel technique.

All he needed was a soap box to stand on until he got his pigtail tied to an overhead lamp-post or tree limb, he explained.

He got by his soap box for about five weeks in Bloomingdale, then lowered himself to the ground and started passing the hat.

The inquisitive state police took him to the county jail at Bonton and asked their colleagues in New York about him.

"Hold him," came the reply. "We are looking for some Chinese murderer."

But Eng was no murderer. The police contacted his father at 70 Bayard street and learned that Eng, from being a fugitive, sought the limelight of publicity.

So the police gave him a free night's lodging. He proceeded to pigtail his way to Hollywood.

Head Of Baden-Powell Once Appointed On Postage Stamp

Lord Baden-Powell, now in his 80th year, has one claim to fame which most of his Boy Scouts don't know about, says London Answers. He is the only living Englishman not of royal blood whose portrait has appeared on a postage stamp. It was during the siege of Mafeking. All the stamps had been used and no portion of Queen Victoria was available for which new ones could be prepared. So, without consulting R. H. Baker, the post-office division of the Customs House, himself a stamp collector, thought of the King, and sent a letter by the first mail for his Majesty. The value of the Royal collection is stated to be several thousand pounds.

Aims At Complete Record

A complete pictorial record of every Indian tribe on the continent will soon be undertaken by Winold Reiss, artist and designer of蒙特利尔. Mr. Reiss, an authority on customs and arts of the North American Indian, has spent much of his life studying the tribe of Indians known as the Blood or Piegan of Alberta.

Valuable Gold Nugget

A gold nugget weighing slightly more than five pounds—one of the largest, if not the largest ever found in the North Territories—is reported to have been found by a young prospector named J. J. Baker. The find was valued at $2,500.

The Strong Man: "I developed these muscles working in a boiler factory."

Innocent Flapper: "Oh, you great big wonderful man! What do you boil?"

A Question Of Luck

Dionne Sisters Have Fortune While Other Children Lack Necessities
Doubtless Dr. Allan Dafoe deserves the fame which has accrued to him through his successful treatment of the Dionne quintuplets. Film producers are not to be unduly censured if they esteem it profitable to invest hundreds of thousands of dollars in the future earning capacity of the five over-publicized infants.

Is there not, however, a question of values here? Is the kind of question which breeds skepticism in the intelligent young? A current news item concerns the "thousands of people who make foolish offers of help to the babies in the early days." Those "unselfish offers" indicate a laudable condition of human sympathy. They also indicate the disproportionate generosity of an emotional mob.

Five infants receive wealth such as their parents never dreamed of possessing, simply as a reward for being born. "Neither the babies nor the rest of the Dionne family need worry about their normal requirements for the rest of their lives," announces the Ontario Minister of Welfare.

Whether this is fundamentally beneficial remains to be proved. Everyone will agree that it is good to feel financially secure. No need to be apprehensive about the supply of the quintuplets.

Yet—there's a brave little youngster at the corner of Main Street, a lad of twelve, who trudges along a path of makers in the middle of a town, earning pennies and shoveling snow after school hours, who would like to go to college some day, but probably won't be able to finish high school. A child with an intellect, his teachers say, a child who should have an opportunity. His mother is a widow, and he has two younger sisters.

There's another child on Main Street—a girl of seven, delicate, featured, with a far too solemn expression in her gray eyes. Her parents are dead, but they are "on relief," and it's very cold when there's no fire to light the kitchen stove. The last time it was lighted the mother made all the flour they had into doughnuts, which the little girl hawked around the neighborhood.

Sometimes the little boy and the little girl wonder why no "unselfish offers" from a sentimental public come showering down on them. It was a mistake to come singly. They should have come in fives.—Christian Science Monitor.

A Valuable Collection

Stamp Belonging To Late King George Worth Small Fortune

King Edward has directed that there should be no relaxation on the part of Sir Edward Bacon, curator of King George's stamp collection, in maintaining the standard of the wonderful collection King George built up, states the London Daily Sketch. From the point of view of Empire examples, it has not a parallel. It was a hobby in which King George found much pleasure and wherever he went for a prolonged stay—whether at Balmoral, Sandringham or Windsor—books of his stamp collection were always to be found over the world.

Many additions to the collection were due to the thoughtfulness of fellow collectors in other countries. As an example, when the day and night air mail service across the United States was opened, R. H. Wilcox, head of the post-office division of the Customs House, himself a stamp collector, thought of the King, and sent a letter by the first mail for his Majesty. The value of the Royal collection is stated to be several thousand pounds.

Little Helps For This Week

Turn ye to the stronghold, ye prisoners of hope. Zech. 9:12.

O power to do; O baffled will;
O prayer and action, ye art one.
Who need not strive may yet fulfill.
The harder task of standing still,
And good but wished with God is done.

That God has circumscribed our life may add a peculiar element of trial, but often it defines our way and cuts off many tempting possibilities that perplex the free and strong; while it leaves intact the whole body of spiritual reality "that if we know these things, happy are we if we do them." We know that God orders the lot, and to meet it with the energies it requires, and permits neither more or less, to fill at every available point with the light and action of an earnest mind even if that action be narrowed, what in that condition we have to do.

Necessity For Speeding

Time Gained Is Usually Not Worth Thinking About

There is no necessity for people to be rushing about the province at 50 miles and more per hour. In Great Britain the Pedestrians' Association, has set a flinty face against speeding, and is working for a country-wide speed limit.

Most of the road accidents there as here are due to speeding, and the association examined the circumstances of a large number of accidents due to this cause. It found that the time sought to be gained was usually a matter of a few seconds. We in Manitoba can be equally certain that 90 per cent of the speeding on our highways lacks any legitimate excuse.—Winnipeg Tribune.

Evidently Had Good Appetite

Queen Elizabeth Enjoyed Meal Of Pork And Peas

Reference is made in the June issue of "The P.L.A. Monthly" to "The London Tavern" in the City; it dates from Plantagenet times and began as "The King's Head."

Queen Elizabeth left her forced sojourn in the Tower of London in May, 1554, four years before she ascended to the throne, and on her way to Richmond went into the old church of Allhallows Staining (near the site of the Tavern) to offer thanks for her deliverance from captivity, and then went to "The King's Head" where she ate a solid meal of pork and peas. The meat dish and cover used on the occasion are treasured at "The London Tavern" today.
